

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

CORRESPONDENCE.

---

Communication in Reference to Publication of United States Supreme Court of Reports.

---

To the Editor of the VIRGINIA LAW REGISTER,

Dear Sir:

Owing to unavoidable delay in publishing the official reports of the Supreme Court for the last term and to the strong interest felt by many lawyers in the time of their publication and the method of procuring them in the future, I trust you may feel justified in publishing the enclosed statement, or at least a condensation of it, in the next issue of your journal.

From the increasing number of inquiries now being made, it is evident that many lawyers do not know the cause of the delay and that some of them have somehow been misled into the belief that a special order must be sent the Superintendent of Documents for each book or pamphlet. Some have been misinformed about the price, and some seem to assume that publication of the advance parts may seriously protract the delay of the bound volumes.

Your aid in removing these misapprehensions will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely yours,

ERNEST KNAEHEL, Reporter.

The following is the statement referred to in the above letter.

Last July, Congress passed an act (Public No. 272) providing for the publication of the Official Reports of the Supreme Court in the Government Printing Office and for their sale to the public at cost of production, including a part of the appropriation made for the maintenance of the Reporter's Office. This did away with the method of publication through contracts between the Reporter and private publishing houses, which had obtained from the beginning. The last contract of that kind expired with the publication of Volume 256, which completed the reports for the October 1920 Term. The letting of a new contract to cover the opinions of the 1921 Term was impracticable, owing to the pendency of the legislation, to the expectation that it would be enacted long before it actually was, and to definite indications that, when enacted, it would supersede the contract method.

For various reasons, incident to the ending of the old contract and the legislative change, editorial work on the opinions of the 1921 Term was seriously delayed. Time also was consumed by administration preliminaries under the new law, and in making necessary preparations in the printing office. Notwithstanding this, however, gratifying progress has been made. The reports of these opinions will be contained in three volumes to be numbered 257, 258 and 259, all of which it is confidently expected, will be published in bound and pamphlet form before the close of the year.

The act provides for advance parts as well as bound volumes, when ordered by the Chief Justice. It was decided to issue a small edition of these pamphlets, four to a volume, sufficient to meet the requirements of public officials and of those lawyers who may desire them notwithstanding the delay. These, as heretofore, are made from the plates used in the final volumes and, therefore correspond with them in page numbering. It is believed that their publication will not delay the bound volumes, and it is known that the prompter dissemination of the opinions thus made possible will be of convenience to many, besides helping to detect errors in the plates. Three numbers, containing three-fourths of the opinions of Volume 257, have been issued at this writing. The price is twenty-five cents per number. The bound volumes will follow the corresponding pamphlets as soon as the plates can be re-examined and corrected and the tables and indexes completed and plated. According to present estimates, the price of bound volumes will be about two dollars and ten cents each, possibly a little more, possibly a little less. It will be fixed in the near future when the work has progressed somewhat farther.

Especial attention is directed to the fact that it will not be necessary to send in a separate order for each pamphlet or volume purchased. Standing orders with adverse deposits will be received by the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., and the publications will be mailed, as issued, to the addresses given, as long as the amounts kept on deposit suffice to pay for them.